THE LEGISLATURE.

The House Judiciary Committee Whitewashes Roberts, of Coos.

THE ASSESSMENT BILL KILLED

A Batch of Incorporation Bills Passed—Women Denied the Privilege of Voting even for School Offices.

SALEM, Jan. 28.—In spite of its obligation to the house and to common decency the committee appointed to investigate the clerkship scandal brought in a report this afternoon, declaring that the charge against Roberts grew out of idle street talk, that he did nothing improper that no indictment or suits were made but that the correspondent of THE OREGONIAN was justified in making it public as in short the report is an unjustifiable whitewash of all parties concerned. This extraordinary outcome was expected but to those familiar with the facts it is known to be false from beginning to end. I have not access to the official transcript of the testimony adduced before the committee. The sessions were secret. Mr. Hines, the stenographer is instructed by the committee to keep secret the testimony reported till then. He was asked to-night to give it out, but it is during the pleasure of the committee in which view I am disposed to concur. Nevertheless I have been assured to-night by the young ladies in question that it was the committee's sub tantially the same conclusion which they before gave to me.

It is utterly impossible to conceive how the committee arrived at this conclusion since Roberts did not deny the statements made and produced no evidence in opposition to them. The report was premeditated. The ring foreordained that it should be so and it was so. No amount of evidence would have changed the result. The long tage used by Roberts is not susceptible of any interpretation that does not brand him as a libertine who was willing that the state should pay the cost of his licentiousness. That is all there is in it. Forty thousand reports would not change the opinion of decent men that Roberts of Coos is guilty of the offense charged against him. The young women naturally shrink from giving verbally nasty testimony, and were forced to make other than general statements. These were emphatic enough in all conscience but the committee chose to disregard them. Two of the committee who concur in declaring the original story to have been mere idle street gossip were among my earliest and most positive informants. They knew that the story was true and still know it.

As to the clause in the report justifying me in the original publication I have only to say that I hold in contempt a justification in such a committee and which I must share with Roberts.

Following is the report of the committee in full:

Your committee on judiciary who were directed by house resolution No. 6, to investigate the charges in THE DAILY OREGONIAN of the 26th and 27th inst., to the effect that certain members of the committees of this house to whom two young women had applied for clerical work, had offered them employment on certain abominable conditions with the intention of your committee to investigate said charge and ascertain if any member of this house is guilty of such conduct, beg leave to report that they have carefully considered the matter referred and in pursuance of the authority conferred in such resolution have subpœnaed and examined witnesses including the two young women referred to in the charges made by THE DAILY OREGONIAN and have found no evidence of any member of this house having made any improper proposition, or condition of employment, to any woman employed by or who has sought employment in the service of this house. Your committee have not found any evidence of impropriety on the part of the women who have sought or obtained employment of this body but do find that there was an idle rumor or street talk, which gave rise to extravagant or absurd statements, but that neither had any foundation in fact into the belief that a serious wrong and impropriety had been perpetrated.

WOMEN DENIED A VOTE FOR SCHOOL OFFICERS

Hale's bill to define legal votes in school elections came up with a favorable report from the committee on education with an amendment giving the right to vote for school district officers to women. Tilyeu moved to strike out the word "female," the effect of this amendment being to take from women the right to vote. This motion was supported by Bilyeu, Daly and Hale while Benjamin and McLean spoke for the privilege of women. All the familiar arguments were rehearsed and the cause of the school superintendency in Multnomah county was fully set forth. After a prolonged and rather tedious discussion Bilyeu's motion prevailed—37 to 21. At this point Metzger called attention to section 44 of Mr Hale's bill which required that in cities of 1000 inhabitants and upward, the possession of taxable property should be one of the qualifications of electors in any matter relating to school affairs. He declared that this was a violation of the rights of a citizen and moved to strike it out. Another discussion followed in which Metzger Bilyeu and Daly supported the motion to strike out and Goodsell, Benjamin Hale and others opposed. The motion prevailed—ayes 40. No action was taken on the bill, which stands amended as above.

ASSESSMENT AND TAXATION

The bill prepared by the assessment commission came up on the house to-day for second reading. A motion prevailed that further consideration of it be indefinitely postponed. A measure involving a great sacrifice of time on the part of the commission and costing the state a large sum of money is thus wantonly thrown away. So much for its literature. But in reading before the proceeding of to-day were by title only under suspension of the rules.

SWAMP LAND INTEREST CASTRATION

During the morning session in the house to-day a resolution came in, giving the speaker authority to investigate swamp land matters and report to compel the attendance of witnesses at Salem. This and take testimony in regard to swamp land records and to employ an additional clerk. Daly urged its adoption and gave out the impression that there was an effort at obstruction in the committee. Metzger took this for himself and replied in a very earnest manner that the course of his remarks he declared that he thought he knew more of this swamp land matter and was more anxious for its just settlement than any other member on the floor of the house. The resolution was adopted. The work of investigation goes on, and I am convinced that it will be no idle one to continue it after adjournment.

THE INSANE ASYLUM

The committee appointed to examine into the affairs of the insane asylum reported to-day recommending the building of a new wing, the extension of the grounds by purchasing certain land and the appropriation of $25,000 for the purpose.

TWO BILLS.

It is to be remembered that when the resolution to submit the prohibitory amendment was before the house on Wednesday Harris and Harrington alone voted against it. McLean who is a prohibitionist to the backbone, voted for the resolution because he thought it would be defeated by the three Hs—Hill Harris and Harrington. This is considered the crack joke of the session, unless the one to be made by R. Beats it is a joke.

A BILL TO VAQUINA.

The adjournment to night was until Monday at 11 o'clock. A general impression was extended to the members by the Oregon Pacific Railroad company to-night that they had about slowly will take the 10 o'clock train south for that purpose.

THE GOODSELL MATTER

In the house this afternoon Goodsell asked leave to withdraw the motion to expel me from the floor on the ground that THE OREGONIAN had been right. In framing the following statement made by Goodsell yesterday the intention was simply to treat him with fairness, not as he assumes to accept his statement as true and this he knew perfectly well. The truth is that he was afraid to leave the matter to a vote of the house and caught at the one flimsy excuse in sight as a means of escape. The knowledge that he had in his page stained falsely made a coward of him. He made no effort last night through a member of the Multnomah delegation to patch the matter up.

I was informed by letter that Mr. Goodsell was willing to have an interview with me in the committee room, with the view of a mutual understanding resulting in mutual good will. And it was further suggested that I could make it pleasant for him and his friends in my power. I replied that there could be no reunion or interview until Mr. Goodsell retracted his falsehood and declined to meet him. My excuse for referring to this unpleasant personal matter is that Mr. Goodsell sneeringly assumed to-day on the floor of the house that he had been even rated by the editor of THE OREGONIAN.

H. B. No. 16 by Roberts—For a county on wild animals.

S. J. R. No. 1, Stanley—Abolishing the advisory board of pardons, reported favorably upon by the judiciary committee. Senator Stanley moved that the report was in favor of the repeal. On motion the rules was adopted.

THE JUDICIARY REPORTED.

The judiciary committee reported favorably on S. B. No. 11, by Irvine, to simplify practice in justices courts and Simon moved its indefinite postponement.

Senator Irvine stated of simplifying proceedings before a justice of the peace from a criminal standpoint.

There ensued with Simon and Irvine the discussion which simply enough now. A man could take his own case from the hands of the attorneys. He thought that practice did not obtain to any extent in justices courts. Irvine replied that it did obtain to a great extent and that the bill was drawn to meet the evil. Simon replied that this was a bill that had passed the House last session and that the Judiciary committee should have given it more consideration. Irvine replied that the bill was drawn by a justice of the peace of large experience and that it was not a hasty production. Simon replied that he was not aware of the fact. The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, SATURDAY JANUARY 29, 1887.

AN EXPLANATORY STATEMENT.

When THE OREGONIAN's remarks of yesterday, entitled "As Plain a Statement as Possible," were written the editor had not before him all the facts relating to the question between its correspondent at Salem and Mr Goodsell. Upon the information then at hand THE OREGONIAN was disposed to place Mr. Goodsell's revised statement by the side of the original statement attributed to him, remarking, however, that there was no great difference between them, and, while giving him the benefit of the explanatory statement, pointing out the fact that even this last statement, by natural interpretation, would support the one originally published.

It said that the statement attributed to Mr Goodsell, and which he pronounced "false," "was not made without authority deemed entirely adequate." At that time it did not know that its correspondent had his statement directly from Mr Goodsell himself. Knowing this now, it has no hesitation in saying that it does not doubt that Mr Goodsell did say what THE OREGONIAN's writer reported that he said, and further, that no one need have the slightest doubt that Goodsell was correct y reported Statements of fact made by THE OREGONIAN's writers upon their own knowledge may always be depended on Moreover, Mr Goodsell's statement in the house, amounting as it does to about the same thing which he denied having said to THE OREGONIAN's correspondent, supports and confirms the substantial accuracy of the original statement, and Mr. Goodsell, who has been so swift to pronounce the statement "false," is hereby informed that THE OREGONIAN affirms its truth, and that his own equivocation and denial must in turn bear the designation which he attempts to fix upon the original statement.

Let us put the statements together once more. THE OREGONIAN writer at Salem reported Mr. Goodsell as having said to him in reference to the Roberts scandal that "there was no offense against the dignity or honor of the legisla ure if the proposition was not made within the walls of the state house" He denies that he made this statement, but says he did say that "if a man commits a crime against the laws of the land he should be punished by law, that a member could only be punished for disorderly behavior." The public will judge whether these two statements, interpreted by events, by Mr Goodsell's political connections, by the fact that the ring has notoriously been making every possible effort to shield Roberts, and by Mr Goodsell's own natural desire to shade off the sharp outlines and soften the plain meaning of his remark, are not in spirit and purport one and the same.

Mr. Goodsell raised this question in the house, but it is not a question about any mat ter that took place in the house, and therefore it is simply a question between Mr Goodsell and THE OREGONIAN. And THE OREGONIAN, therefore, repeats the statement that, with the facts all before it, it can not doubt that Mr Goodsell said substantially what he was reported to have said by THE OREGONIAN's writer Since Roberts has been "whitewashed" it may now be thought of little consequence that the public are entitled to know nevertheless that the papers accurately writers whose statements, as they are entitled to its own confidence, are recommended by it to the confidence of all its readers

A PAUGHT LOOK AHEAD

The decayed and doleful democratic brother who does the finer editorial work for the bogus journal, is employing his time to the best possible advantage in studying THE OREGONIAN art particularly its recent review of the m ss It is a long step from sponging on relations and hobnobbing with long-suffering democratic politicians, to the study of so useful and interesting an article. Since he is keenly on the lookout for errors, we will forestall him by pointing out one only, into which Mr. Lang fell, when he good-naturedly referred to the Murray Sun as "a first-class paper" That, undoubtedly was a grave error, and only allowable as proceeding from a kindly heart.

When the doleful brother has finished his engagement with the bogus journal, and the next blizzard fills up the country with snow and cuts off all sources of news, and the patent office reports and last year's almanacs are all exhausted, it is possible that THE OREGONIAN, in sore straits to get "filling" for its columns, may have need of his services to dissect that remarkable hodge-podge of odds and ends called by the bogus journal its "mining edition" Not that the object would be to collate errors. Far from it. Acting in the interest of the mining districts, we should only desire to ascertain what communities and individuals had had the supreme good fortune to be left out of it. Among others, the miners of Colville are just in plant because they escaped They are to be congratulated, as are Messrs. Watson & Bigne, of this city, proprietors of a noted mine in Eastern Oregon, whose property and a ten stamp mill were overlooked

And if the decayed brother will assist us we shall try to ascertain what part of the mining community the bogus journal and its hangers on will sponge upon this year Because those who are spoken well of by that paper this winter may expect to be requested to "put up" next summer

It is understood that the decayed brother offered to write up the O. I. & M. mines for the bogus journal for a consideration, but having no relatives upon whom he could sponge while in that section and doubting the convertibility of the "truck" with which he was to be paid, gave up the job, much to the advantage of the residents of that vicinity

To conclude, let us assure the dilapidated brother that when a further measure of filling the columns of THE OREGONIAN fail an asylum awaits him at the back door, where he may find employment for quite a season in packing "trial and index" of the errors in the bogus journal's mining edition He will be paid in good money, not in promises, contingencies or truck, after the manner of bogus republican and the "boys" will treat a good natured stranger to leaving their tobacco within reach of those who, fond as they may be of the article, and of other creature comforts, never waste money on them.

"VINDICATION" OF ROBERTS

It is not all surprising, after the strenuous efforts which have been made during a week past, to get Roberts "exonerated," that the committee of investigation has not been able to find testimony to sustain the charge Yet the committee say "We do find that there was idle rumor or street talk which gave rise to extravagant or absurd rumors that might naturally lead an enterprising journalist into the belief that a serious wrong and impropriety had been perpetrated"

But what was the sense of this "talk," the origin of these "rumors" Everything came directly from the women themselves, and nowhere else. They told the story to their friends they told it to many persons, including our correspondent, they told it in a way that made it more than "street talk" they brought it directly to members of the legislature, to whom they complained that they had been insulted by indecent and infamous proposals they named the man They told it, and they named the man to two members of the judiciary committee which subsequently was charged with the investigation, and these same members, upon a visit to Portland, informed THE OREGONIAN about it. At the same time these two members stated that every possible effort was being made by persons interested in saving Roberts from censure to dissuade or prevent the women from testifying before the committee to what they had complained of to others. Of course it cannot be known, officially, just what their testimony was, but the women say that they repeated before the committee the same statements they had made to our correspondent and to many others.

Of course nobody can be deceived or misled as to this matter. It was one of those things that had to be "fixed up," and it has been "fixed up." The least credit that attaches to any one in the matter appears to belong to the two members of the committee, who, after hearing the statements of the women and spreading the report, now join in calling it "idle street talk" and "absurd rumor."

If the women testified before the committee to what these members have said the women told them, the report is indeed a remarkable one, and if they did not so testify, a service would have been rendered to truth had these members of the committee insisted on putting into the report a statement of the fact that the women had told them the story, and accompanied this statement with a sharp reprimand of them for having put such a story in circulation and then having declined, upon the investigation, to bear it out.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

The senate committee has reported the so-called "Hill" Postal Telegraph bill as a substitute for that of Senator Edmunds The "Hill" bill seeks to obviate the constitutional objections to the Edmunds bill by providing that the postmaster-general may contract with the existing telegraph companies for the performan e of telegraph service just as he now contracts with railway and other transportation companies for carrying the mails The Edmunds bill contemplates the absolute ownership of a government telegraph and the absorption, by purchase, of the existing lines, just as was done by England in 1868 It is urged against the Edmunds bill that telegraphy between New York and Chicago, for example, is commerce between the states, and that therefore congress has no power to build, own and operate a telegraph plant within the boundaries of a state Congress can regulate commerce between the states, but cannot carry it on as a business, and the opposition to the Edmunds bill claim that the United States supreme court has decided that all telegraph business within a state is no more subject to regulation by congress than the commerce in corn, coal or beef within a state It is further urged that with every point which the military, commercial and financial operations of the government touch there is now telegraphic communication which is night and day open to the government's use, with right of priority of service at rates of charge fixed by the postmaster general, and less than those paid by the public, and that it is straining the constitution needlessly to pass the Edmunds bill.

On the other hand, the friends of the Edmunds bill point out that in Europe telegraphy is almost exclusively under the management of the government, that the first telegraphic line in the United States was constructed, owned and operated by the government that at the present time the United States operates an extensive military telegraph system, that private enterprise only accepts the profitable part of telegraphing, and in consequence the remote or thinly settled points of the country are deprived of telegraphic communication and great tracts of country are but poorly supplied that under the present system the telegraph and news companies make a private monopoly of news and are able to control its transmission to the public. England allowed telegraphy, when first introduced, to fall into the hands of private companies, but finally concluded that it properly belonged to the postal system, and an act of parliament was passed in 1868, providing that the "plant and trade" of telegraph companies should be negotiated for and purchased by the government. This act required the postoffice officials to ascertain what a twenty years' purchase of profits would be, and to then debit the companies a certain amount for the depreciation in the plant.

The estimated profit value was about $81,000,000, from which $2,500,000 was taken for depreciation of the "plant." The government rate was fixed at one shilling for twenty words to all distances. The number of messages increased from 9 000 000 in 1868 to 19 258 000 in 1875, and the number of post Office telegraph stations from 200 to 2562, and of these 600 did not pay expenses. The net earnings in 1871 of the British postal telegraph were about $1,517 000, and in 1875 were but $784,000, but the estimated reduction in telegraphic charges to the public was estimated at not less than $1 .00 000 per year, so that upon the whole the British people have been greatly benefited and lost no money by the change The government raised the wages of the operators to the same level of those paid the employes of the postoffice department.

The postal telegraph reform in our country includes two plans Edmunds would have the government construct, own and operate a complete telegraphic branch of the postoffice department. To this plan the owners of existing lines answer that the government has no right to go into the telegraph business without first taking all their property off their hands This is but a fair claim for indemnity, because if the government charged only such a price for messages as would pay interest and current expenses, private companies could not compete with the government. Of course the government would not agree to pay the existing companies for millions of watered stock at par, we would do no more than pay the companies the actual cost on their property, less the depreciation in their plant. They would have to take this or go out of business when the government built new lines Beyond this fair indemnification for legislating the existing private companies out of business they would have no claim The postoffice business of the country is efficiently and economically administered the telegraph business could be equally well managed

The facts here recounted include substantially the argument of the friends of the Hill and bill for the abs rption and operation by the government of a postal telegraph The objections offered to the Hill bill, under which the mails are a substitute for the Edmunds bill, are that the government would have to construct or erect the construction all new extensions needed that the present bought up monopoly is complete that there could be but little competition in bidding for leasing the existing lines, and so the government would have the results postal telegraphy once, that such a purchase would simply close up the monopoly of the government ought to have telegraphs in its own hands If we are to have a postal telegraph both the Hill and the Edmunds bills are but makeshifts, but the fact that a postal telegraph or no postal bill or any bill meets the chief objection to the present vast force of government employes

This to our mind is the real objection to the whole business Better the public burden of the present gigantic telegraph monopoly than an addition of 100,000 men to our present vast standing army of government employes

The democrats did a shrewd thing in the Massachusetts legislature when they made Dawes's election sure They reasoned that to send Long or Robinson in their vigorous prime to the senate now would only strengthen the hands of the republican party, while Dawes will hardly outlive his term and is sure to grow weaker in influence and energy every year Six years from now, if the legislature should be close between the parties, it will be easier for the democracy to contest the senatorship successfully than if Long or Robinson had the record of six years of vigorous service in the senate to rest upon as a recommendation for re-election

Mr H C Campbell, builder of the Morrison street bridge, says that the bill introduced into the legislature by Mr Harrington to authorize the county to lease a bridge over the Willamette was gotten up and introduced without privity of his company, that his company have never offered to lease or sell the bridge, and know nothing of Mr Harrington s bill. Nor has the matter ever been talked over at any meeting of the board The purpose is to complete the bridge immediately, open it for business and operate it for accommodation of the public

The St. Louis committee of 100 and the newspapers have been investigating the election frauds there, and make charges that the names of 2100 regularly registered citizens were stricken off the lists by the board of revision, mostly on the last day of their session, while the names of many hundred dead men and those who had removed from the precincts were retained A state grand jury is at work upon the evidence.

The authorities of British Columbia have been officially notified by the British government that the Chinese "must enjoy unrestricted liberty the same as other people in the province Unless these wishes are carried out a threat is made that the imperial government will not grant a mail subsidy to the Canadian Pacific railway The communication further states that it is the desire of Lord Salisbury to keep on the best possible terms with China, as in the event of war with R s la it would be of the highest importance not to disturb the friendly relations now existing between China and Great Britain"

The spirit of the democrats who are trying to defea the re-election of U S Senator Harrison by the Indiana legislature is shown by the speech of Senator Zimmerman, who in nominating Judge Turpie said that 'in the dark days of the war, when the unhappy south was being trampled and spit upon, as it were Turpie arose a friend to that unhappy section'

Says the Albany Democrat "Mr Benjamin denies being part of a ring So do the Simons, the Siglins and the Carsons"

From The London Times

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE is the best illustrated magazine published in America. The short stories are all readable and the serials are of a sensational character, but the illustrations are excellent, and the publishers have every reason to be satisfied with the success which has attended the publication for the future

From The Philadelphia Ledger

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE shows that the publishers have not been satisfied with the past success, but that they are still bound to advance in every branch. Their aim is the highest in literature, and a variety of valuable illustrations and well-executed engravings make the number welcome

THE WATER QUESTION.

PORTLAND, Jan 28

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A variety of communications on the water question has been given to the public through your columns, but no writer has spoken more clearly than Mr D. P. Thompson His statement is the best one yet made, and I say "Ditto to Mr Thompson." I will only add a word about getting a pure supply.

Clackamas river, which flows into the Willamette only a short distance above the present pumping works, is as pure water as exists on the coast, and the Willamette itself, after flowing over seven bars and the falls at Oregon City is purer in fact than any large city in the world can boast of The reservoir system will be necessary also if the water of Bull Run is brought in and then Bull Run will be no better than Willamette, for without a reservoir a much larger pipe from Bull Run will be required, and of much heavier iron All these things must be considered.

ALBERT BARTSCH

THE BEAN COUNT.

This evening at 8 o'clock the three judges chosen by Mr. Arthur Kohn to settle the count of beans in the jar which has been exposed in Mr Kohn's window will, before proceeding further, select from additional judges from those present The seal of the jar will be cut and the count made by the two boys, under the direct supervision of the six judges. At the same time a tally of the tickets bearing the guesses will be made by a system best calculated to expedite matters. When the count is complete the tally-sheet of guesses will be examined, and those in no wise coming within range of the actual count will be excluded and the decision made from the few that come nearest the count The closest guess will win the piano, next the second, and next the sewing machine Where two or more guess like numbers that entitle them to a prize, said parties shall decide between them as to which of their number shall be entitled to said prize. The three judges first chosen are A P Ankeny, John Kelly and G W Pittock

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

STARTLING EFFECT OF ETHER.—There was considerable excitement in and around the Strowbridge block, corner of First and Alder streets, about 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It seems that a stout, healthy man went up to have a troublesome grinder extracted He concluded to take ether and thus be oblivious to the pain usual in such cases. Now ether has a singular effect on some people, and this man was one of the kind which it affects most powerfully. About the time the influence began to steal over him, instead of going off into unconsciousness like an ordinary Christian he was aroused to more than usual activity of mind and body. The activity of his mind need not have been minded had it not been for the accompanying exhilaration of his physical powers. He became possessed with the idea that he, as a stranger, was being taken in and done for, and he proceeded to take vigorous steps for self-preservation. He endeavored to break away and get down stairs, but the two gentlemen who had undertaken his case insisted on trying to detain him till they should have completed the job. In his struggle for liberty he kicked over a center table and smashed a glass containing gold fish, kicked a hole in the wall and displaced the huge chair, weighing several hundred pounds. He at length got into the hall, with both doctors clinging to him, and there a terrible struggle ensued, the stranger shouting and raving like a thoroughbred lunatic. Hon M. C. George at length came to their assistance and the man was got back into the dental chamber, but he could not be soothed or pacified, and finally got away with his tooth still in his head It is safe to bet that the stranger is not the party who sang "How happy I would be with ether," or else it did not come up to his fond anticipations when he tackled the ethereal stuff. The dentists are to be congratulated that the stranger got away all in one piece, even if he did make their office look as if a whole tribe of Indians had been holding a war dance there.

SHOW WINDOW ROBBED.—A most daring burglary was committed last night in the jewelry store, or rather stall, of Charles Haas, who rents a small room from the Merchants saloon, at No. 9 First street, in the New Market Theater building. A little after 5 o'clock Mr. Haas went to his supper, returning in fifteen minutes, he found the front window of his store broken, and a tray of rings, valued at $300, gone. Mr. Haas's store is very small, about six or eight feet by fifteen feet. The door takes up half of his display window, so he had arranged the other half to the best of his ability by having the door swing some two feet inside of the sidewalk, thus giving two sides from which to display. This little box of a place, about two feet square, at the back and side of which were mirrors, was used as his show window. There were two trays, one of rings and one of watch chains besides several watches in the place. The thief broke the side window by the door, a pane of glass four feet by eighteen inches, and grabbed the first tray that came to his hand, which was the rings, leaving in his haste the chains and watches One ring was found on the sidewalk, near the store, but nothing else has been found of either rings or man. William Illige, bookkeeper in the Merchants Exchange saloon, heard the crash of breaking of glass, but thought nothing of it, thinking it was Mr. Haas at work William O'Donnell, the special policeman, was not yet on duty, but was up in the theater doing some work.

SECURED A BETTER POSITION.—C. J. Murphy who committed a number of forgeries here and was sent to the penitentiary, and who was pardoned out by Gov Moody a few weeks since, has been made a custom house officer in San Francisco. The following from a San Francisco paper was received by the Salem Statesman: "Changes in the custom house.—Cornelius J Murphy, chosen from the civil service list, was appointed a day inspector of the second class yesterday, vice John Critcher, promoted. Inspector Jefferson Powers was transferred from the night to the day force. The collector has still five appointments to make." Accompanying the above was the following note, signed "a friend of his" "I send you an item of interest to Neal Murphy's friends. He's got lots of 'em here. Keep it from his enemies. He's got lots of 'em there" Murphy seems to be better appreciated at San Francisco than he was here. If he is the kind of stock they want for customs officers then our penitentiary can furnish a full supply.

TABERNACLE CONCERT.—The eighth and closing entertainment of the Y. M. C. A. members' course of entertainments took place last evening in the Tabernacle, a large audience being present. A concert by Parson's orchestra coupled the first part of the evening, after which Rev. T. E. Clapp delivered his lecture on "Some Ministries of the Atmosphere." The subject was handled in a masterly manner, showing most thorough study and careful adaptation to the occasion and moving the audience to hearty applause Mr. E. W. Allen, of the lecture committee, read a statement of the expenses and receipts of the course, which served to show a balance in hand of nearly $100, all bills being paid The committee are to be complimented on the successful issue of a course involving so much expense. An illustrated lecture on a tour through Belgium, Holland, Germany, Norway, Sweden and Russia is to be given in the Tabernacle Friday, February 18.

GOING TO CALIFORNIA.—Mrs. E. C. Blum will shortly leave for San Francisco, where she will take an advanced course of studies in art She has quietly won considerable distinction here as a faithful and painstaking artist. Her collection of pictures in crayon, oil or water colors number over 100, and being too large to transport it has been decided to dispose of them at a public sale to take place at her studio, 121 Seventh street, corner of Hall, next Thursday at 10 o'clock A. M The collection embraces landscapes, flowers, animals, portraits and decorative pieces. At the same time Mrs. Blum's library and the household effects will be sold A number of the pictures are now being handsomely framed at the several art stores

MET AND ADJOURNED.—The board of school directors met last evening in regular session, and after looking over an opinion submitted by Mr H H Northup in regard to the duration of the office of school director, adjourned to meet at 3 30 this afternoon in the office of T T Struble Following is an extract from Mr Northup's opinion "I therefore conclude that under the law controlling the construction of statutes claimed to be in violation of the constitution, the legislative assembly has the power to decrease the duration of the office of school director, and that it is not limited to the period of four years."

PROCESSING LAW SUIT.—The Gerlinger boy, who had his nose so fearfully mutilated by the wood elevator in Hamm's block is getting along very well His nasal bone has been removed, but there is still some dead bone in his face which must be removed, but it is impossible to tell as yet how much of it was destroyed of the periosteum It is hard to say what effect the apparatus his nose will present by the time the doctors are through with him However he will be able to be around the house, and don't appear much troubled as to the effect his injury may have on his personal appearance

SUIT TO ESTABLISH TITLE.—John H Jones and F K Jones began suit yesterday against Henry Failing, Wm M Ladd and Uriah K Arnold as executors of the will of M. W Feichheimer, deceased, praying that the defendants' alleged title to a piece of property be set aside In 1880 one W. Ramsey gave a deed of the property to Feichheimer for the purpose, as declared by the plaintiffs, of defrauding his creditors. In May, 1885, Jones bought the property at a foreclosure sale, paying therefor $1500. The sale was made to satisfy a claim of $1039.

BENEVOLENCE.—In response to the solicitations of Miss Jane Weeden, city missionary, Messrs. Everding & Farrell have gladly agreed to give a bale of hay to the needy cow of a poor old lame Frenchman in South Portland By this act of benevolence Messrs. Everding & Farrell have made Miss Weeden, the Frenchman and the cow happy The cow is the one most substantially benefited, but the job of returning thanks will devolve on Miss Weeden, who will do justice to the occasion. Farrell has donated his share of the thanks to Dick

ROAD SUPERVISORS APPOINTED.—The following road supervisors were appointed yesterday by the county commissioners to serve for the ensuing year One new district has been added, No 13 No 1, Philo Holbrook, No 2, James Short, No 3, S. E. Smith, No 4, Frank Powell, No 5, C Christiensen No. 6, J. W Kern, No. 7, No 8, C Redman, No 8, W Wash, No. 9, E. Geise, Jr, No 10, George P. Lent, No. 11, Gustave Peterson No. 12, Thessing, and No 13, W. P Jones

OPPOSITION WITHDRAWN.—The steamer Isabel has withdrawn from the LaCenter route, where she had been running opposition to the Lucea Mason for the past two months. It is understood that her owners received $400 for withdrawing There is a profitable trade on this route for one boat, but when divided between two it paid neither.

CASE DISMISSED.—In the state circuit court yesterday the case of Sears vs. Steeves, accused of making a false abstract, was dismissed on motion of plaintiff's attorney. It is stated on reliable authority that the case was settled on payment by Steeves to Sears of $300 in coin. This settles the much talked of Holdeman case.

A DRY COUNTRY.

S. H Greene, formerly justice in North Portland precinct, is in the city He has just returned from visiting his parents at the East. By desire of his father, who is a stockraiser, Mr. Greene comes back by way of San Diego to investigate the prospects for stock farming there. He says there has been no rain there and dust is six inches deep, and he has written to his father that if he comes west, Oregon is the best place for him. Mr. Greene says San Diego is the worst overrated place he has ever seen There is, however, a tremendous boom there M. L. Hearne, formerly signal service officer here, showed Mr Greene a lot for which he paid $8 some years since, and for which he has been offered $1100. If any one here is dissatisfied with the rain we are enjoying he had better emigrate to San Diego for a while, and "dry up."

DANGEROUS LUNATIC.—Chris Olsen, who was sent to the insane asylum not long since, turned up here again yesterday, as mad as ever He came over on the Vancouver boat yesterday, and upon landing attacked and knocked down a fellow passenger, the jailer a Vancouver. He followed the man to the corner of First and Ash streets and knocked him down again, upon which he was arrested by policeman Cunningham He was very violent and will doubtless be sent back to the asylum as soon as the necessary forms can be gone through with Olsen has been discharged from the asylum twice within the past year, but it appears has not been permanently cured

THE LOCKS REOPENED.—After being closed about a week the locks at Oregon City were opened again yesterday The Oregon Pacific's new and recently repaired boat N. S Bentley, which had been in waiting for several days, passed through The regular boats of the O. R. & N., which have been tied up on account of the locks, started out for various up-river points There is a fine boating stage, and the only difficulty to be apprehended is that the boats will not be able to pass under the new bridge at Salem.

DEATH OF A PIONEER WOMAN.—Mrs. D M Moss, one of the earliest pioneer women of this state, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs T. W Clarke, in Oregon City, on the 23d instant, aged 70 years. She came to Oregon in 1848, and with the exception of a short residence at Salem, has lived ever since at Oregon City The immediate cause of her death was a paralytic stroke She leaves a husband and five children living, among whom are Mrs. Nora Clarke, Volney Moss and Walter Moss.

I HOSTED ORANGES.—Some of the oranges arriving here from California have been frost-bitten. Some which have been sent out to country customers have been returned on dealers' hands here, and are a dead loss. It cannot be said that they were frost-bitten here, for we have not had frost enough to bite even an orange. It seems strange that there should be frost down among the orange groves of California and none to speak of up here But it has often been remarked that the climate of this coast is changing.

HOODLUMS IN TROUBLE.—In Judge Tuttle's court yesterday morning H H Fagin, accused of larceny by bailee, was discharged. This morning four young hoodlums will have a hearing before his honor. J. Bulger, Wm. Eckless, Arthur Orton and Homer Orton are accused of breaking into a warehouse, the property of A. J Smith and J M. Hill. After smashing the windows they stole a number of sacks, valued at $3.

COMING HOME ON THE COLUMBIA.—Ralph W. Hoyt, who started overland Monday morning to bring home the remains of his brother, George M. Hoyt, who died at Paraiso Springs January 23, did not, owing to bad roads, reach San Francisco till Thursday night. In the meantime the remains were brought to San Francisco by his uncle, George W. Hoyt, and yesterday Ralph with the remains of his brother, sailed for home on the Columbia.

STATE TEMPERANCE ALLIANCE.—The sixteenth annual session of the Oregon State Temperance alliance will convene in Salem, Oregon, on Wednesday, February 16, 1887, at 2 o'clock P M. Each organized county alliance is entitled to twice as many delegates as there are members of the legislative assembly from that county. Also each church, Sunday school and temperance society is entitled to one delegate.

LAST SPIKE DRIVEN.

Completion of the O. R & N Line between Walla Walla and Pendleton.

The missing link of twelve miles in the O. R & N railway between this city and Pendleton, says the Walla Walla Statesman no longer exists. The last tie was laid the last rail was placed in position, and the final spike has been driven, and the twelve-mile gap which has existed for so many years to our detriment and the postponement of our prosperity, was completed to-day, and through traffic will probably commence by February 1 The completion of this line was an act of tardy justice as the road should have been finished long ago. It will bring to us a large share of the business of Umatilla county, which through the lack of direct communication we were unable to obtain The line will be of great importance to this city in the way of overland travel. It will take but two hours to reach Walla Walla from Pendleton while heretofore ten hours was consumed in the trip These are not the main reasons, however, for congratulations The principal reason is that the completion of the missing link brings with it the certainty of the construction of another railway line which will give us another outlet for our products by way of the Northern Pacific. The people of Walla Walla and vicinity can well hurrah and feel happy over the bright prospects the future promises

THE STAGE

THE CASINO.—"The Musketeers" was presented last evening by the Thompson Opera company prior to their departure for Victoria and the Sound, and was greatly enjoyed by the audience Mr Murray as the devil-may-care Brissac furnished much amusement by his clever mimicry in the second act, and sang "Let All Obey" superbly This gentleman has improved wonderfully since his first appearance in Portland and with application and study he has a brilliant operatic future before him Miss Clement's Marie was also a very artistic personation and her singing of the cantonion song and the instrumental song in the second act, gained her great and merited applause. She is a painstaking lady and her voice cultivated and true never fails to please Miss Genevieve Reynolds as the Lady Superior was all that could be asked in mien, dress and action she was the devout guardian of the convent flock Miss Flaveling's Simone was a pleasing bit of acting and singing her "Pit a pat" song in the first act earning her an encore Mr Wick for the first time played the role of Abbe Bredaine and barring a little uncertainty at times was good Mr Murchie as the governor did a small part well Miss Hattie Starr as the mischievous Louise was very amusing, and the remainder of the cast and the chorus was good

THE EAST SIDE.

The Stock Yards—Attempt to Abolish Sunday Liquor Laws—Pioneer of 1853—General News

Few of our citizens are aware of the importance of the stock yards at the depot, or of the amount of business transacted at them Stock can now be shipped to these yards without the owners taking the time and expense of coming here themselves A stock raiser at any point east of the mountains, or in southern Oregon or in fact, at any point can ship his cattle, sheep and horses here them fed and disposed of with perfect safety The advantage to the country is apparent, and the facilities thus afforded are being employed by stock producers Shipments are constantly being made On the 27th of January there were shipped to the yards car loads of sheep, 26 h, 1 car load of horses 1h, 2 car loads cattle 28th 2 car loads sheep, 2 car loads horses 2 car loads cattle

IT WILL NOT SUCCEED

It is an open secret that nearly all of the members of the common council have been interviewed and elected to repeal the ordinance prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors on Sunday by parties in the interest of the saloons This information comes from well-citizen sources and as saloons be stood all question that such an attempt is being made But the effort will be wasted as the people of East Portland are not yet prepared to allow liquor to be sold on Sunday and the parties engaged in the attempt may as well give it up as they will certainly make a failure Public sentiment is against its accomplishment

SOON TO DEPART

Capt Napton of the ship Bessfield has been in East Portland for about two weeks During this time he has made many friends who will regret to receive the intelligence that he is soon to take his departure His ship the Bessfield, has been receiving a cargo of 2600 tons of wheat at the Victoria warehouse and will probably be ready to be towed to sea by next Monday The captain found places for both the stowaways who came to this country in his ship The Bessfield is a fine ship and Capt Napton's friends wish him a safe voyage and a speedy return to this port

SLAUGHTERED HUNTER

An incident happened to Guy Pussen a prominent young man of this city a short time ago which has not been printed He had contemplated a hunt down the river, at Foster and started late in the evening It was quite dark when he reached a point where it was necessary to pass through some bushes As he approached the point his horse refused to proceed any further and stopped Two men sprang out of the bushes, clubs in hand and rushed toward Guy but his horse took fright, and wheeling, soon carried his rider out of danger But the young man was not to be thus cheated out of his danger stepping shells in his shotgun he rode back and the place where the men had sprung at him, but this time they made no attempt to molest him

The citizens of East Portland will be able to make a trip "around the world in eighty minutes" in Neppach's hall Tuesday evening next for the small sum of 25 cents Mr Frost will give the lecture, illustrated by eighty magnificent views, by oxy hydrogen light.

There is now a good plank road direct to Mount Tabor Instead of traveling in the road some young fellows living in that direction continue to ride along the footpath next to the fence. By this means the path is kept muddy and is very badly cut up, rendering it disagreeable for the many school children and others who are compelled to use the path. There is great complaint about this matter and the offending parties owe it to their reputation to desist from so contemptible an action

A COUNTY BRIDGE.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan 28

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

It is unfortunate that before "sitting down" on Harrington's bill to enable the county commissioners to negotiate for the rental of a bridge you did not have the bill itself before you, rather than a brief of its contents, from which you drew a wrong inference

The bill is substantially as follows The county commissioners of Multnomah county are hereby authorized and empowered to enter into contract with any bridge company whose structure is erected or to be erected across the Willamette river within the corporate limits of the cities of Portland and East Portland for the rental of such bridge for a term of not exceeding ten years, at an annual rental of not exceeding $2 000 conditioned that at the end of such period the structure shall belong to said county of Multnomah and that for the payment of said annual rental the said commissioners may collect tolls across said bridge or assess the taxable property of the county or both at their option

You will see by this that the county commissioners are left free for negotiation for the cheapest and best bridge it is possible to obtain for their money and it is wholly optional with them to do or not to do as they see fit

No member of the Morrison Street Bridge company was consulted with reference to this bill, and their influence is against it

In the meantime with the constitutional prohibition of indebtedness it is the only way to annihilate free bridge can be obtained and I think the sentiment is almost universal that a toll-ed river is one of the relics of the dark ages that yet remain with us.

Your strictures with reference to the nature of the Morrison street bridge, I believe to be uncalled for Its owners who are the builders certainly know what they are about better than the scarecrows who daily convene at the foot of Morrison street expecting to see it blow over or fall into the river.

So far as the foundations on which it rests are concerned you will find them to be just what was contemplated in the original railroad bridge and they cannot be more durably constructed.

The wooden superstructure which you so spitefully condemn probably has not $1 worth of labor between the piers and if they have to be removed every ten years will not bankrupt anyone in the structure that may have to be renewed

I am opposed to this bridge, of the Morrison street bridge if anyone will offer it to me for less money In the meantime not less than $10 per day is being paid out for ferry tolls and if the people desire to remedy this matter the Harrington bill provides a county bridge in the hands of their representatives, the county commissioners

C. CHURCH

If the superstructure at Morrison street is so very much cheaper than the bridge I have cost in exact figures, House & Shaw will probably be glad to furnish an estimate of the cost of such a bridge Then it should be necessary to contract with anybody for a similar bridge at $60 000 In any undertaking of this kind somebody will make a pile of money at the public expense and as this is the intention in getting up and pushing any scheme of the kind there is no need to try to disguise it

POISONING CHILDREN.

Four years ago almost every mother thought her child must have Laudanum or Paregoric to make it rest These drugs will produce sleep and keep it there but waking Many are the children who have been killed and who still have been rendered idiots for life by the laudanum and paregoric quack nostrums of the day. The use of opium in any form stupefies intellect and in paregoric all quantities kills. China revised its importation law and with the Dr. Delsarte in America many nostrum druggists are prohibited from selling either the narcotics named to children at all or to any one without labeling it in person Because children can be conveniently stupefied they have been forced into silence by a dose of narcotics although their stomachs might be full of indigestion. The destruction of narcotics is a medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death. As the dangerous nature of opium medicines began to be better understood some dealers disguised their peculiar tastes and sent in the various mixtures, and thus continued to sell the same ingredient under the names of Soothing Drops (Godfrey's Cordial Soothing syrups etc Many substitutes for dangerous opium preparations have been sent here but all experimented with the only effective and reliable one found was a combination of senna, pumpkin seed, ginger mint, anise and saffron in alcohol called Sugar Plum prescription met with a pronounced favor on the part of pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It was used by physicians with results so gratifying that subsequently the originator of the formula procured for it, under the name of Castoria, the proprietorship of the Tablet Grains of the United States and Canada, a power to which it in this act that the discovery of this remarkable and beneficent remedy was not an accident. While the ingredients are simple, the combination is governed by a physician this prescription can be used by any one The present extended use of Castoria is not occasioned by the result of three years but by twenty years of unquestionable evidence that it is harmless of all that it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves but assimilates the food, and of this an agreeable and perfect substitute for castor oil This is a good deal for a medical journal to say Our duty however is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information."—Hall's Journal of Health.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Governments dull and steady. The stock market showed another change in the temper of local speculation, and while there was no evidence of increased demand, the dealings were characterized by a much firmer undertone. The opening was weak, with prices ½@⅝ below last evening's final figures. There was moderately active business the first hour, when about two-fifths of the business for the entire day was transacted. The market was strong from the opening, and under the lead of Union Pacific and New England prices were made over the entire list in the first hour. Prices continued firm, however, until shortly afternoon, when the market sagged off slightly, being at the time excessively dull, the general list responding toward the close, which was firm and quiet at or near the best prices reached.

Mining shares dull, closing at following prices: Bodie Alta $1, Belcher $1 20, Best & Belcher $5 50, Bodie $2 05, Caledonia H. The Conflict Between disease and health is often brief and fatal. It is better to be provided with cheap and simple remedies for such common disorders as coughs, colds, etc., than to run the risk of contracting a fatal disease through neglect. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM is a sure and safe remedy for all diseases of the lungs and chest. If taken in season it is certain to cure, and may save you from that terrible disease, Consumption. It has been known and used for many years, and it is no exaggeration to say that it is the best remedy in the world for Coughs, etc.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

SEATTLE.

Four cougars were killed in the neighborhood of Slaughter during the past four weeks. The Fawcett boys, who succeeded in capturing them, got $5 each for the scalps at the auditor's office.

The Lake Shore & Eastern company has paid the first $10,000 on the coal lands which they recently purchased. It is the intention of the company to have the railroad completed to the coal mines in about six months, and immediately thereafter bring coal to Seattle over their own line of road. The mine is considered to be the most valuable one in the entire Puget sound country.

SPOKANE FALLS.

A drunken Indian attempted to enter a farmhouse on White Bluff prairie on Monday. No one but the women of the family was at home. The door was closed and locked, when the Indian attempted to cut it down with an ax. The woman took a shot at the fellow through the door and he fled.

Tuesday night a German who had been exhibiting a good sum of money in a saloon, on going to his room, was held up by two footpads. In the struggle that followed all three fell to the ground and the German got a finger of one of the thieves in his mouth and bit it half in two. The fellow screamed out and both highwaymen, becoming alarmed, took to their heels. An officer a few minutes later saw a suspicious character enter a physician's office and arrested him. He then forced the doctor dressing the injured finger of a Canadian known as Charley, who had been ordered to leave town. Both men are now in jail.

MONTANA.

Fathers Bandini and Prando, of the Society of Jesus, have gone to the Crow reservation, where, at the month of Rotten Grass creek, they will establish a mission for the conversion and improvement of the Indians. They will at first establish their work in a tent, from which will doubtless grow one of the fine missionary establishments among the Indians, for which the Jesuits are celebrated.

A Fort Assiniboine special of January 21 says: The Indian commissioners arrived here from Belknap at 3:30 P. M., remained over night here and left for Box Elder to-day by government transportation, and will take stage from there to-morrow and reach Benton to-morrow night. They will leave Benton Wednesday morning by stage, and expect to take a conveyance from Sun River to the Blackfeet agency on Thursday. After completing their work in the Blackfeet agency they will go to Helena and make their report of the treaties in time to have them ratified by the present congress. The Blackfeet treaty will complete their work in Northern Montana; then, if instructed to visit the Crows, they will go to their reservation from Helena, and if such instructions are not received they will continue on to Idaho and Washington territory. The commissioners verify the reports brought in by couriers from Belknap as to the terms of the treaty at that place.

THE HEART OF THE LABOR PROBLEM.

An exceedingly interesting and valuable contribution to the literature of "the labor problem" is made by Mrs. Helen Campbell in the latest paper of her "Prisoners of Poverty" series now appearing in the Tribune. This paper records, in his own graphic language, the experiences of a German ribbon manufacturer in this city, who has labored for years to improve the condition of his employees. He saw that the building in which they worked was ill-constructed, ventilated, and that the atmosphere [illegible] tried many things, but "had to give it up." They will down or push out or stop up tight, whichever way will most surely abolish air." At last he brought a good friend, who was a doctor to explain the necessity of fresh air to health. "They listen, but they laugh all but one, and say, 'How funny! What is the use of so much fuss?' The upshot of it was that he made a hole in the shaft, that they can't push out enough to fill, and is the only way of securing any ventilation. He found that the employees cakes, so he provided good coffee at 2 cents a cup of nutritious soup at three cents a bowl, but he had to give up the experiment, for "they do such things! They pick out vegetables from soup and throw on the floor, they pour away coffee. They make the place like a home of criminals, and when I say, 'Girls, I want much that all should be clean and nice, and that you never waste,' they laugh again." He found that women receive only two-thirds as much pay for the same work as men, and announced that he should pay both sexes alike. Immediately the brother of a woman employe organized the men in opposition with the threat of a strike. The employer gathered the men, and said: "Shame on men that will let women work all the hours and as well as they—yes, many times better—and then threaten strike if they are paid the same," but his words had no effect, and he was forced to yield. He tried profit sharing, and for long as business was good all went well; but there came a bad year when there were no profits, and the employes "called me cheat and liar, there in the place where I had tried to work for them," and he had to abandon that experiment also.

COMMENT BY THE NEW YORK "EVENING POST."

We believe that this is a fair picture of the attitude of all except the more educated classes of working people towards attempts to improve their condition; but it is a factor in the problem which is left entirely out of the account by nearly all the professional philanthropists who are nowadays solving the labor problem in an offhand way by charging that all the ills of the poor are due to "capital" and "monopoly." The workingman and woman whom these socialists have constructed in their imagination is an ideal which has no existence. The actual personage is more or less ignorant, very prejudiced, very hostile to new ideas. As the manufacturer interviewed by Mrs. Campbell says:

Some things are plain. It is not alone oppression and greed from above that do what you call grind the worker. No, I am not alone. There are men like me with a wish for humanity rather than I, and alike they are not heard when they speak—alike their wish is naught and their effort vain. It is ignorance that rules. There is no knowledge, no understanding. In my trade and in all trades I know it is the same. A man will not believe a fact, and he will believe that to cheat is all one over him can wish. . . I think that this generation must wash for much of the pain and want learn. It may be, what is life. To-day it knows not and cares not, save a few. How shall the many be made to know?

This is the heart of the labor problem, and all the theories of all the Henry Georges fail even to touch it.

DEFIANCE TO THE KING.

Pendleton East Oregonian.

Siglin, with the assistance of the "ring," of which he is undoubtedly a member, is trying to expel Wager, joint senator from Umatilla and Morrow counties, from his seat in the senate of the state of Oregon, on a charge: "conduct unbecoming a senator and a gentleman," founded on a number of criticisms which have appeared in the East Oregonian of late, supposed to have been the composition of Senator Wager, editor of the East Oregonian, when he is at home. Siglin and his clique of toughs, composed of about equal parts of republicans, democrats and corruption, are confident they will have the pleasure of expelling Senator Wager from his seat in the senate. This will never be done, and the "ring," and particularly Siglin, will find out ere many days, that they have counted without their hosts. There are other men and influences in the world besides those bound up in the "ring," and there are honest men and honest influences, too, arrayed on the side of Wager and right, all over the state. Eastern Oregon, solidly, is at his back, and will stand by him until the enemy cries, "hold, enough!" Senator Wager was sent to the senate unpledged by the people of Morrow and Umatilla counties, but to labor in every honorable way only, in the interests of his state and his constituency. The people knew the man before he was elected as their representative. What knew that he was able, honest and capable, and in every respect to state their wants and defend their rights and they knew that he would have to fight, as the saying goes, and they were certain of success crowning his efforts in the end. They knew that the common enemy would be the "ring" with the democratic contingent, and being forewarned he was forearmed, so he went into the fight for right and justice and against the "ring and corruption." Ten thousand times would we rather see him defeated fighting against them than victorious fighting with them! The Siglin-Simon faction will find out in time that there are other things in the world besides fistic wit, corporation power, corrupt trading, and other implements belonging to a well organized "ring," formed in fraud and corruption and supported by iniquitous and nefarious men.

GERMANY.

POLITICAL NOTES.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—At the court reception to-day Emperor William informed the assembled officers that 12,000 reserves would be called out immediately and be drilled in the use of the new repeating rifle. This announcement, taken in conjunction with the reported words of the ex-Prince Frederick William at the same reception, that the situation was still serious, renews public alarm.

Advices from Vienna say the issue is expected of an official order prohibiting the exportation of horses from Austria-Hungary, it being feared that the closing of the German markets to foreign buyers may result in an excessive draw upon the markets.

The Frankfort Gazette has a dispatch from Rome saying that the vatican is surprised at the assertions of the Prussian government relative to the attitude of the pope. Prince Bismarck, the dispatch says, promised the pope the complete abrogation of the May laws in return for the vatican's influencing the center party to vote for the septennate. To this proposition the pope responded that he was unable to interfere, but that he had caused the leaders of the Catholics to know that he would be pleased if the members of the center found voting for the septennate consistent with their political duty.

FORTS ON THE FRONTIER.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Germany has made arrangements to at once erect barracks at various points along the French frontier, "thus answering the French," as the dispatch from Berlin giving the intelligence says, "with barracks and forts arrayed."

AUSTRALIA.

THE WHEAT SURPLUS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Australian mail advices to December 22 are that New South Wales, Queensland, Western Australia, Tasmania, Fiji and New Caledonia will require five and three-quarter million bushels of wheat to supply home wants. The other colonies, Victoria, South Australia and New Zealand, will have a surplus for export of thirteen million bushels, leaving a net surplus for export of seven and a quarter million bushels.

SEIDON'S FLOODS.

BRISBANE, Australia, Jan. 28.—Serious floods have occurred in southern Queensland. Fifty-eight persons were drowned.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

ANOTHER "BOODLER" ON TRIAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The trial of ex-Alderman O'Neill was begun to-day. Informer and ex Alderman Michael Daily was the first witness. He told his story of the corruption and the voting away of the franchise of the Broadway railway did not differ from his former relation of it in the first and second trials of Mayor Grace.

GUILTY AS CHARGED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The jury in the case of Louis Bieral, charged with attempted assassination of Surveyor of the Port Beattie, found him guilty as charged to-day, and recommended him to the mercy of the court.

The Effects of Mental Exhaustion.

Many diseases, especially those of the nervous system, are the products of daily renewed mental exhaustion. Business avocations often involve an amount of physical wear and tear very prejudicial to physical health, and the professions, if arduously pursued, are no less destructive to brain and nerve tissue. It is one of the most important attributes of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that it compensates for this undue loss of tissue, and that it imparts new energy to the brain and nerves. The rapidity with which it renews wasted mental energy and physical vitality is remarkable, and shows that its invigorating properties are of the highest order. Besides increasing vital stamina, and counteracting the effects of mental exhaustion, this potential medicine cures and prevents fever and ague, rheumatism, chronic dyspepsia and constipation, kidney and uterine weakness and other complaints. Physicians also commend it as a medicated stimulant and remedy.

SACOBS OIL

FOR RHEUMATISM.

MIRACLES OF CURE.

Suffered 40 Years and Cured.

N. Albany St., Ithaca, N. Y.

For over forty years I have been a victim of Rheumatism. I was persuaded to try St. Jacobs Oil. I have used two bottles and a man more free from rheumatism, now walked our streets. My limbs that once were stiff and lame are now as light and limber as in my youth.

JOS. EDSELL.

Suffered 30 Years and Cured.

Bangor, Maine.

Mr. Frank Durgen, who works at Maddox's Harness Shop, 127 Exchange Street, said: "My father, who lives at 46 York Street, has suffered with rheumatism and erysipelas in his feet every winter but this, for the past thirty years. He has employed the best physicians and tried all the known remedies for such diseases but received no benefit until last winter, at which time his feet and the lower part of his legs were swollen to four times their natural size. He applied St. Jacobs Oil to the afflicted parts and was completely cured.

Suffered 18 Years and Cured.

The Louisville (Kentucky) Courier Journal says: Prof. A. Donaldson, who was severely wounded in the battle of Gettysburg has been an almost constant sufferer and cripple with rheumatism for over eighteen years. He states that he spent $10,000 in trying to get rid of his pain. He tried doctors, famous baths, electric appliances, and all kind of liniments, without relief. Finally, he tried St. Jacobs Oil, which he says has completely cured him.

Spent $20,000 in Vain.

Col. D. J. Williamson, an Army Officer and Ex-U. S. Consul, San Francisco, Cal., states that after long years of intense suffering from acute rheumatism, and after using all other known remedies in the battle of other countries, and spending twenty thousand dollars without relief, he was cured by St. Jacobs Oil, and has thrown away his crutches, after having been a helpless cripple for years.
